

Marie-Jeanne Capuano (French) is a practitioner of European Affairs in Brussels, Paris, and Washington DC. With a 10-year experience in government and corporate cabinets, she has a wide-scope expertise in managing Euro-Atlantic strategic issues and working with the EU Institutions.

Marie-Jeanne is the Director of EU Programmes at Diplomacy & Strategy (www.diplomacystrategy.org), a Professional Education Initiative dedicated to promoting ethics in multilateral diplomacy. She is in charge of Evaluation, Education, and Training activities, with the objective of helping non-EU countries achieve a better cooperation with EU Institutions.

Marie-Jeanne is also the Founding Director of EUROFUTURE (www.eurofuture.org), an independent agency providing services and solutions in European and international affairs. She is the advising and managing Editor of several institutional publications of the EU.

She is currently in charge of Public Diplomacy and Business Diplomacy projects for Embassies, business representations and intergovernmental organizations in Brussels and Paris. She is a guest speaker on EU global actions and strategic regulations in several senior executive education programmes.

Marie-Jeanne graduated in International Relations and European Affairs from Sciences Po Paris. She also graduated from the Sorbonne Law University in European Law and International Law (LL.Ms). She is ancient of IHEDN (51, Paris) and NDC (96, Roma) ■

Professional Affiliations

WIIS Women in International Security

ESIL European Society of International Law

EACD European Association of Communication Directors